STATOTHR

At the request of [REDACTED] I interviewed [REDACTED] on 29 July. I informed him that there was no opening at present in my office, but I wanted to talk to him to see if I had any ideas where his legal experience could be used. [REDACTED] seems an intelligent, alert and confident man who has had excellent experience. He is primarily interested in the legal field and would consider security work only at the higher levels as I understand it. He would not be adverse to another assignment of general interest where his legal knowledge might be of use. He appears not to have had much finance or fiscal experience. He has applications in with several other agencies in town.
